Mr. [Henry G.] Cartwright was born in Roxbury, November 13, 1869. In 1889 he was page in the Assembly, and began corresponding for the Albany papers. He was later assistant in the post-office at Hunter, Greene County, N. Y., but having a taste for journalism, he purchased the Hunter Phenix, a weekly paper of that town. This he edited for some time, and then sold it, being then employed by the Prudential Insurance Company. In April, 1891, he accepted a position as clerk with A. Cartwright, a leading merchant of Roxbury. Not being content with mercantile life, and wishing to return to his literary work, in April, 1892, he purchased of R. R. Hazard the Roxbury Times, whose circulation of six hundred has increased, under his able management, to over eleven hundred.
